4 COUNTIES APPROVE WATERSHED PLAN

Largest Atom Smasher Is Plan

NEW YORK (UP) — President Eisenhower announced Thursday that he will ask Congress to commit 100 million dollars to build what may become the world's most powerful atom smasher.

The two-mile long electron accelerator has been proposed by scientists at Stanford University and will be built and operated on Stanford's Palo Alto, Calif., campus, by the government, Eisenhower said. It is expected to take about six years to complete.

The President announced plans for the mighty new research leading scientists gathered for a symposium on basic research under sponsorship of the National Academy of Sciences, the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation.

The 10 to 15 billion electron volt accelerator will be 50 times the length of the linear accelerator now operating at Stanford, currently the largest of its type.

It is expected to boost electrons to a speed just short of the speed of light, which scientists believe cannot be exceeded. Not even nuclear explosions have produced such high energy electrons, although they are sometimes created in the atmosphere by cosmic rays.

The speeding electrons are expected to release new particles and anti-particles as their speed increases.

SON IS BORN

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stevenson of Palos Verdes, Calif., announce the arrival of a baby son, weighing seven and one-half pounds on May 9th at a hospital in Santa Monica, Calif. Mrs. Stevenson will be remembered in Murray as the former Miss Georgia Ferguson, Mrs. G. W. Ferguson of South Sixth Street is the maternal grandmother.

John Powless, Formerly Of Murray State Seeks Davis Post

By JAMES C. WARTERS
United Press International
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP) — Professional basketball star John Powless, a towering athlete who has won the respect of the world's best tennis players.

Powless, who coaches the Florida State University tennis team in Tallahassee, currently has his eye on a U.S. Davis Cup team berth. And if determination and progress are an indication, the 25-year old Flora, Ill. native is a cinch.

In only four tournaments on the Florida circuit this spring, the 6-5, 200-pounder has beaten South American champion William Alvarez of Bogota, Colombia, and Swedish ace Berger Folk.

In February he lost to nationally ranked Jack Frost, Monterey, Calif., 6-4, 6-4, at West Palm Beach. Two months later, Powless and Frost battled it out in one of the closest matches of the local Masters Tournament.

The more experienced Frost finally won 1-6, 13-11, 6-2.

Besides these individual tests, Powless teamed up with Folke to win the doubles crown at Tampa and Fort Lauderdale, and he and Frost won the doubles title at West Palm Beach.

"I've gotten a lot of encouragement from the players on the tour and they say I could be beating

Oates Belongs To Waterfield Says Combs

TAYLORVILLE (UP) — Bert T. Combs, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, again Thursday accused Highway Commissioner Ward J. Oates of "belonging body and soul" to Joseph Leary and Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield.

If Waterfield is elected governor, Ward Oates would remain as highway commissioner for another four years. We need a highway commissioner who will give his full time to public duties, not dally with a sideline of real estate development," Combs declared.

He charged that if Waterfield were elected, Oates "would remain at the calling of Joe Leary" and do his bidding. Leary is not a public official and is not answerable to the people of Kentucky," he continued.

Leary, a Frankfort attorney, is Waterfield's state campaign chairman as he was for Gov. A. B. Chandler in 1955.

Combs charged that on Feb. 19, 1957, Leary filed suit in Franklin

Tappan Range One Of Best 100 In Design

MANFIELD, Ohio — A year of very successful sales of the Tappan Company's new Fabulous "400" electric range was recently crowned with the selection of the product as one of the best 100 designed products of modern times.

Making the selection was an imposing panel of 100 leading American designers, architects and educators.

Introduced a year ago, the Tappan "400" marked the first time in over thirty years that any manufacturer had departed from conventional lines and taken a bold new step forward.

Development of the range was prompted by a nationwide survey indicating that electric appliance dealers were suffering a 30 percent drop over a five year period in the sale of built-ins. The home builder had been replacing the appliance dealer as a seller of built-ins.

In an effort to put the free-standing dealer "back in business" Tappan developed the Fabulous "400" — combining the versatility of a free standing range with the best features of the stylish eye-level built-in.

In evidence of the product's overwhelming success, the Tappan Company has expanded the popular 40-inch unit into a family of other models varying in price, features and size.

The firm is currently producing several new model variations of the original "400" including several models with power venting.

Despondent Over Bankruptcy Man Kills Two, Then Self

By JAMES W. RYAN
United Press International

LIMERICK, Maine (UP) — A mild-mannered businessman, despondent over his recent bankruptcy, killed his wife and a police chief and wounded two other policemen in a wild gun battle before committing suicide.

Gordon G. Hamlin, 51, described by neighbors as a "crack shot," stood off a force of more than 100 policemen who surrounded his home during a siege which lasted more than four hours Thursday night.

The gun battle, in which hundreds of shots were fired, ended when Hamlin turned his 12-gauge gun on himself.

One of the wounded, State Police Detective Stephen Regina, 41,

Cold Air Chases Dust Storms Out

United Press International
Cold air charged down out of Canada today but brought welcome relief for housewives plagued by dust storms.

Temperatures from the Dakotas eastward to the Great Lakes and south along the Ohio Valley, already below mid-May minimums at midnight Thursday, dipped even lower during early morning hours.

But the cooling winds chased great dust accumulations out of the country's central states while there were widely scattered showers throughout most of the nation.

Heavy rain and hail pelted Elyria, Ohio, shortly after midnight. There were lesser falls in western New York state, Washington, the north central states, the Texas Panhandle, Kansas and New Mexico.

Early readings today ranged from the 40 in New England to the 50s and low 60s in the Gulf states, a 7-15 degree drop in 24 hours.

Phoenix, Ariz., with 79, Miami with 75, and Honolulu, also with 75, were the only major reporting centers with above 70-degree weather.

Showers and thunderstorms took up much of the picture today, expected to stretch over the northern plains and the Rockies and the great plains and also in Pennsylvania, New York and northern New England.

A break in the cold air was expected in the plains states and the Pacific Coast, with continued cold for the south central states, the Gulf Coast, and New England.

Rotary Club Gives $100 To Girl Scouts

The Murray Rotary Club yesterday voted to present the Murray Girl Scouts with a check for $100 so that they could send eight girls to the National Roundup at Colorado Springs, Colorado.

The girls had raised all necessary money with the exception of $300 and since they are aided each year by the Murray United Fund, the girls could not solicit any more funds.

The Murray Civitan Club had already presented them with a check for $100, and other clubs have come to their aid. Murray is sending more girl scouts to the Roundup than any other city in this area.

J. H. Shackelford was the speaker for the meeting. Mr. Shackelford provided an entertaining program.

Rotarian visitors included Raymond Cane of Illinois and L. V. Zimmerman of Kansas. Dr. Harry U. Wayne had as his guests Dr. Charles Cowden and Dr. A. C. Rowland of Nashville.

Howard Dodson was introduced as a new Rotarian.

There will be no regular meeting next Thursday since the annual Ladies Night on Tuesday, May 19 will be held. Tickets for this occasion may be purchased from Howard Olla.

Combs Fools The People Waterfield

WINCHESTER (UP) — Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield said Thursday he expects Bert T. Combs, his principal opponent for the Democratic nomination for governor, to "make a major effort to deceive the voters" during the next few days.

"He is going to get someone to write him a fine-sounding speech, outlining a program so that he can go over the state saying he really does stand for something after all" the lieutenant governor charged.

"But the people of Kentucky won't be fooled. They know that for 15 months my opponent has done nothing but engage in personal vilification and character assassination. It is too late for him to pretend that he stands for anything else," Waterfield said in an address here.

Waterfield accused Combs' supporters of distributing what he called a "filthy, blasphemous" address here.

Meeting Set Tuesday For Fifth County In Watershed District

Approximately 75 persons met last night in the Calloway County courthouse to hear a review of the work plan of the East Fork of the Clark's River Watershed.

Visitors were present from several state and government agencies to explain the work plan and to answer questions. Visitors include personnel of the Kentucky Soil Conservation Districts, Kentucky Division of Wildlife Resources, United States Forestry Division, Ray Sims, State Geologist, A. B. Rogers of the Watershed Conservation Resources, Staff of Kentucky.

Also present were persons associated with the Conservation Districts and Conservancy Districts in Calloway, Graves, Marshall, McCracken, counties, Kentucky and Henry County, Tennessee.

After the work plan for the watershed was presented representatives of both the Conservation Districts and East Fork Clark's River Watershed Conservancy Districts of Calloway, McCracken, Marshall and Graves counties approved and signed the plan.

Representatives of Henry County, Tennessee had not seen the work plan before, so a meeting was set for next Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Puryear High School for further discussion and answering of questions. Ray Sims of Lexington, Kentucky will be present on that night.

The watershed plan will involve about twelve million dollars with the end result being "the holding of water where it falls" through the use of land treatment, water retarding structures, and the widening of stream channels.

Two Held For Killing Cow With Rifle

Paul J. Richard of Behm, New Jersey and James D. Sale of Morrow, Georgia have been arrested and charged with the killing of a cow owned by Gil Hobson, Mr. Hobson lives near Portersville on the east side of the county.

The two young men, both college students, were arrested last night after Sheriff Sheriff Cohen Stubbsfield and Deputy Vernon Roberts on 18th street where they live.

According to the sheriff the two boys drove by Hobson's farm, saw the cow grazing in a field, and shot it with a 30-30 rifle. Mr. Hobson rushed out before the cow was dead and took it to the slaughter house in order to save the meat.

Neighbors and a state highway worker gave a description of the car which led to their capture.

The two boys gave no reason for their action. They said they had been doing the same thing for some time, only they had been shooting dogs and cats.

A 30-30 rifle is a high caliber rifle and is capable of killing a person within the range of one mile or more. The rifle was found in the boy's automobile.

The two were placed in jail pending their making bond.

TWO MASTER'S DEGREES IN THE FAMILY. Before he leaves for Nashville, Tennessee, where he will become editor of Junior Sunday School lesson courses in the Sunday School Department of the Baptist Sunday School Board, William N. McClath of Murray will receive a Master of Theology degree from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky. His wife, the former Betty Hendricks of Raleigh, N.C., will receive a Master's degree from the Carver School of Missions and Social Work. Commencement for the seminary this year will be held at Freedom Hall, Louisville's large coliseum, in connection with the opening session of the Southern Baptist Convention. Southern Seminary is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a cornerstone of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	1 Corinthians	2	1-16
Monday	1 Kings	9	16-28
Tuesday	1 Kings	10	1-22
Wednesday	1 Kings	11	1-10
Thursday	1 Kings	11	23-35
Friday	1 Kings	11	26-43
Saturday	1 Kings	12	1-15

His garden is the envy of all the neighbors. They say it's because he has a green thumb.

But the truth of the matter is, he loves to see things grow... and he works hard to help them grow... and he enjoys the hard work because he finds deep satisfaction in the beauty of its fruit.

The same spirit pervades the churches of our community. Congregations thrive and souls grow in spiritual strength because of consecrated men and women who love to see this God-given growth... who work hard to implant Christian truth in their hearts and yours... who enjoy this unselfish dedication of their time and talents and treasure because they share the joy of Christ in his spiritual fruit.

Be an active church member! Volunteer for enriching service in your congregation's busy, fruitful life!

3 Waterfield Servants' Food: $223 Month

LaGrange supplies subsistence for prisoners assigned to mansion; lieutenant governor defends order sizes

By KYLE VANCE, Courier-Journal Frankfort Bureau

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 2 — Food valued at an average $223.52 a month was delivered from the stocks of the LaGrange Reformatory to the State-maintained residence of Lieutenant Governor Harry Lee Waterfield during a 10-month period ending last December.

The Waterfield residence receives fresh stores of food each week from the reformatory to feed three prisoners kept there as servants. Orders are placed a week in advance, usually by Mrs. Waterfield.

Since Waterfield is the first lieutenant governor to be housed by the State in Frankfort, he is the first to gain the services of inmate servants. Prisoners have been assigned to the Governor's Mansion for household and grounds duties down through the years and their subsistence has been provided by the reformatory.

Twelve inmates are being used by Governor Chandler. Their rations from the prison in December were valued at $681.18, an average of $56.76 per servant-prisoner. Food delivered the same month for Waterfield's three servants — a maid, a cook and a butler — was valued in prison records at $244.16, an average of $81.38 per servant-prisoner.

Since some of the food is produced on the prison farm and some is obtained at costs lower than retail, the listed valuations for most items would be considered unusual bargains in a retail grocery store.

Waterfield, campaigning for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, defended the size of stock sent to his residence as being necessary to feed his three servants.

"The food is delivered exclusively for the use of the inmates," he said. "I pay my own grocery bill, and I have the records to prove it. I also pay from my own pocket for allowances to the inmates."

"We try to feed them well. When we have steak, they have steak. They can eat from our personal meals when they care to do so."

Prison records made available to The Courier-Journal are the source of information concerning the Frankfort food deliveries.

The records include Mrs. Waterfield's handwritten orders, requisition forms from the prison, and statistical reports of the prison steward, J. G. Pratt, and business manager, A. B. White.

They cover the period from March, 1958, through December, 1958.

Mrs. Waterfield's orders for her three servants varied only slightly from week to week. A sample one-week order called for:

- 10 dozen eggs
- 6 pounds of butter
- One 15-pound cut of pork chops
- 10 pounds of hamburger
- 12 cub steaks
- 10 pounds of minute steaks
- 5 pounds of sausage
- A beef roast
- A pork loin
- 2 soup bones
- A 15-pound green ham
- 3 hens
- 8 fryers
- A case of canned tomatoes
- A case of salad dressing
- 5 pounds of cornmeal
- 10 pounds of American cream cheese, Fresh vegetables (cabbage, turnips, etc.)
- A bushel of Irish potatoes
- 1/2 bushel of sweet potatoes
- A case of coffee (Continental regular)

2 gallons of sweet milk

For the 10-month period, the Waterfield deliveries averaged 104 pounds of beef steaks and roasts per month, 69 pounds of pork chops and roasts per month, 47 pounds of fryers and hens per month, 35 dozen eggs per month, and 21 pounds of vacuum-packed coffee per month.

Staple groceries, vegetables, fruits, juices, sugar and seasoning were ordered in lots of corresponding size.

Supplies delivered in December were sufficient to provide each (the maid, the cook and the butler) with 3 1/2 pounds of baking powder, 5 pounds of jowl bacon, 5 pounds of bologna, 8 pounds of coffee, 32 cans of orange juice, 2 gallons of peas, 8 boxes of salt, 27 pounds of fresh apples, 37 pounds of beef, 57 pounds of chicken, 13 dozen eggs and a large variety of other foods in lots of corresponding size.

The prison's disbursement statistics for December listed 110 pounds of beef delivered to the Waterfield residence at a total valuation of $45.10, or just over 40 cents a pound.

An independent grocer in Frankfort lists current retail prices of round steak at 99 cents a pound; club steak,

$1.19 a pound, and round or sirloin roasts, 89 cents a pound.

Prison prices compared with retail prices on other items delivered in March, with the prison listing first, included 88 pounds of fryers, $20.50 and $31.98; 200 pounds of Irish potatoes, $8.00 and $10.00; 50 pounds of sweet potatoes, $3.00 and $7.50; 80 pounds of apples, $4.40 and $10.00.

The food delivered for each prisoner thus would become much more expensive, if bought at retail, than the monthly prison-rate average of $81.38 each for the Waterfield servants and $56.76 for the Chandler servants.

Prisoners confined at LaGrange are fed for about 50 cents a day, or $15 a month, when the prison-rate prices are applied.

The December report, said, the Waterfield servants received $104.42 worth of food from the purchased stocks and $139.74 worth from the farm stocks.

The Governor's Mansion received the same month $166.56 worth of purchased items and $514.52 worth of farm items.

Governor Chandler said he knew nothing about his mansion's operations. He said he left all organizational affairs to Capt. Nat Britton, assigned there for that purpose by the State police.

Britton said rations for the Chandler-mansion servants were ordered by dietitian. He said the orders there were "about in line" with those of other Governors he has served the last 14 years.

Welfare Commissioner Charles Allphin, whose department administers the institutional program, said he knew nothing about food delivered to the two Frankfort residences from the prison.

Deputy Warden M. B. Myers, whose signatures of approval appears on the orders of Mrs. Waterfield, said he did not consider the supplies excessive. "We do not like the idea of the prison being drawn into politics," he said. "We are trying to do a good job."

Kentucky statutes governing the penitentiaries make no prohibition against the use of prisoners in such assignments as those at the two mansions. (Neither do they prescribe such services.)

Thousands of dollars in top soil and fertilizers are washed off the Clark's River watershed each year which finally find their way to the Mississippi River.

When the plan is enacted, the loss of topsoil in this area will be held to a minimum.

Water retarding structures will cost about four million with land treatment and channelling costing the remaining eight. This cost will be borne by the Federal government.

Money for the project is expected to be appropriated in this term of congress.

The county now receives about $106,000 on soil conservation practices through the ACP program. This is $18,000 more than the county received last year. The increase was due to the county's activity on the watershed program.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie W. Barnett, Murray, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Olivia Wells, to Mr. Dan Thomas Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Carl Marshall, Murray.

Miss Barnett is a graduate of Murray Training School. She is enrolled as a sophomore Business Administration student at Murray State College.

Mr. Marshall, a graduate of Murray Training School, is a sophomore Business major at Murray State College. The wedding will take place on June 5, at eight o'clock in the evening at the First Christian Church.

Formal invitations are only being sent to out of town guests. All relatives and friends of the couple are invited to attend.

He charged that by "making use of the handbills Combs has demonstrated that he has no respect for the office he seeks to hold. Thank God that as an American citizen, you are not required to like the governor personally. But if the time has come in this state that we no longer have respect for the office itself, then we have indeed reached a new low." Waterfield continued.

Waterfield said that fear of such political abuses cause able men to "sit on the sidelines, unwilling to hold public office."

Waterfield will be in Kenton and Campbell counties today for a day of handbiking and a major rally of northern Kentucky supporters in Covington tonight.

He spoke briefly in a "Meet the Waterfields" appearance with the members of his family over a Lexington television station Thursday night.

"Mr. Leary overlooks details of the record when he says that one contractor he represented was penalized for $20,250 by the Highway Department. He forgets he persuaded his friend Bob Humphreys to forgive $57,000 of this penalty."

"Against still another of Leary's clients, penalties were assessed in the amount of $166,500. Leary persuaded Humphreys to forgive $103,500," Combs continued.

Citing additional cases, the former appellate judge said, "This is typical of the Chandler-Waterfield government...the people will make up their minds whether they want to continue this type of state government."

the best of them with more experience," Powless says.

Ironically, a basketball injury in 1956 kept Powless from becoming a member of the Professional Philadelphia team. Powless was drafted while a junior on the Murray State College team in Kentucky. He had a 48 per cent shooting average, was plunking in 20 points a game and was the nation's No. 2 free throw shooter.

But early in the 1956-1957 season, Powless went up for an essay layup against the University of Texas and stumbled over a player who ran under him. The back of his neck caught the force of the fall, breaking a vertebra.

"The doctor told me if I fell on my neck again, it might be fatal," Powless says. It was his last basketball game.

Powless owes his interest and excellent foundation in tennis to his father who helped build the first clay courts in Flora, a town of 5,000 population.

When he was 17, Powless won the Illinois State Tennis Tournament and has taken the title every year since. He currently is ranked third in the Western Lawn Tennis Association and has won the Western Closed Championship twice.

After graduating from Murray State, where he married a local girl, Powless coached the Paducah, Ky., Tilghman High School basketball team to a 20-5 won-loss record. He then received an offer to take the tennis coaching job at Tallahassee.

Powless jumped at the opportunity because of the state school's reputation, the top caliber tournaments played in Florida and the year-round tennis climate. "It's the first time I've ever been able to play past September," says Powless.

After he takes two Florida State players to the National Intercollegiate Tournament in May, Powless wants to rejoin the amateur tennis tour for the remainder of the season.

"I just want to give it a try and see if I can't make the grade," he says.

What you should know about wash-and-wear blouses

Because so many fabrics claim to be wash-and-wear, it's important for today's consumer to choose the blouse brand that has tested them all in order to find the best. Only after extensive research, did Ship'n Shore choose their special blend: 65% Dacron (for its permanent quick-dry, no-iron features) and 35% fine cotton (for soft, lovely touch). A NEW MYSTERY

The COUNT of 9 by A. A. FAIR

WHAT WAS HE THINKING? The man who had been in the penthouse for a long time, looking out at the city lights, was suddenly aware of the fact that he was alone. He had been waiting for someone to come, but no one had. He had been waiting for a long time, and now he was alone. He had been waiting for a long time, and now he was alone.

CHAPTER 5

"UNTIL you joined this agency," Donald Lam, I had a respectable run-of-the-mill business," Bertha told me.

"And making run-of-the-mill money," I reminded her.

"Then you started in working for me, weasled your way into the business, and we've been playing tag with the state penitentiary ever since."

I looked at her big diamond rings.

Bertha followed my eyes, suddenly grinned. "All right, Donald. I'm out of my depth. How do you deal with something like this without letting the police in on it?"

She pushed her creaking swivel chair back from her desk, got up and started walking back and forth across the office with that peculiar walk of hers which was half-waddle, half-stride. "Crockett had sixty-two guests up there," she said. "Sixty-two. Count them. Sixty-two. All of them with invitations. I checked every one of them. All of them, he says, are pillars of respectability. . . . and one of his pillars of respectability stole a jade Buddha and a blow gun. Now he wants them back."

"What do you do if you can't call the police? You can't cover pawnshops without calling the police, and that stuff isn't going to show up in a pawnshop, anyway. It's in the private collection of one of those guests. . . ."

"Unless that blowgun is still up there, hidden someplace under a bed or in a closet somewhere," I said.

"Well, it isn't," she told me. "I suggested one of the guests might have hidden it, and they put that whole penthouse through a wringer this morning. They searched every corner of it."

"Try putting an ad in the paper," I said. "Will the person who inadvertently walked out with the curio at a certain party given by a well-known figure give a name about generosity?"

"There's a wide distance between Africa and Borneo," I told her.

"I'm not being facetious," I said.

Bertha snorted.

"It's a good logical suggestion," I told her, "but if you don't want to follow it you don't have to."

"If I don't want to follow it?" she screamed. "You're in this thing! You're the one that's going to have to get that stuff back. I've done my share, I'm not going to carry off the load of the partnership business."

I raised my eyebrows.

"I went there and stood on my two aching feet in front of that elevator, being nice to people as they walked in, smiling at them, asking to check their invitations."

"Don't hand me that line of malarkey, Donald Lam. You're going to take charge of getting these things returned, and I'm going to be busy from now on. When that press agent, Melvin Otis Olney, calls, I'm going to tell him you're in charge of that branch of the business."

"How nice," I said, settling down in the chair and lighting a cigarette. "How do you get along with Olney?"

"I hate his guts," Bertha said. "He's a super-smooth, suave, penny-ante, slave-driving louse!"

"And the photographer?"

"The photographer," she said, "was nice."

"He was there last night?"

"Oh, sure," she said. "He was taking pictures all over the place."

"A private photographer?"

"It depends on what you mean by private. Crockett doesn't do anything he wants to be photographed."

"What was the occasion for the shooting?" I asked.

"He's just back from exploring the wilds of Whoosh, with a lot of pictures of women carrying baskets on their heads, women naked from the waist up, dead animals with Crockett standing with one foot on the chest of his arm and a fatuous smile on his face."

"You didn't see it?"

"I didn't see all of it. I was waiting at the elevator until the guests arrived, then I went and stood by the entrance to the elevator in the upper hall so I could check anybody that came in late."

"Was there anyone?"

"A couple."

"Where was this trip?"

"Someplace down in Africa or Borneo or someplace. I never did shells into the house and firemen partially flooded the basement in a futile attempt to keep Hamlin on the upper floors.

As darkness fell, firemen turned searchlights on the house. Some were shot out by the crazed man.

About 9 p.m. the gunfire from the home stopped and police cautiously moved forward. Hamlin was found dead in the basement, a bullet wound in his left side, his body was floating in a shallow pool of water.

Police said neighbors told them Hamlin had been dependent since his furniture factory closed recently, forcing him into bankruptcy.

During the shooting, the 18-year-old daughter, Judith, was at a nearby baseball game, unaware of what was happening until the siege was almost over.

Hunters may take bullfrogs either by gun or gassing, state Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Minor Clark said.

Regulations require either a hunting or fishing license for frog hunting depending on whether a gun or gas is used.

Clark said gills may not have more than four prongs, each of which may not be longer than two and one-half inches and having only one barb per prong.

The bag limit is 15 frogs for any 24 hour period from noon to noon. Possession limit is 30.

Despondent...

Continued from Page One was near death early today at Maine Medical Center in Portland. He was hit with a shotgun blast in the stomach and lay in the open for an hour before two fellow officers could pull him to safety.

Hamlin's wife, Rose, 46, and Westbrook, Police Chief Pierre A. Harnois, 34, a former FBI agent, were killed.

Police said neighbors told them Hamlin was "mild mannered and soft spoken" and never caused anyone trouble. An argument with his wife, plus his recent bankruptcy, were blamed for his violence Thursday night.

The bloody outburst began shortly before 5 p.m. when Hamlin killed his wife with a single shotgun blast on the front porch of their house, situated in a quiet residential section in this town, 30 miles west of Portland.

Felled By Blast Hamlin then barricaded himself in his large two-story house.

Two squads of police arrived minutes later. State trooper Willard Parker kicked in the front door and was felled by a shotgun blast, which struck him in the right side. He was not seriously wounded and dragged himself to safety.

Hamlin held police at bay for the next four hours, dashing from window to window, spraying approaches to the dwelling with a steady stream of slugs.

He had two 30-30 rifles, a 12-gauge shotgun and a large supply of ammunition.

Harnois and Regina decided to rush the house from different sides but with amazing speed, Hamlin first killed Harnois with one rifle slug, dashed through the house to the opposite side, and cut down Regina with a shotgun blast. Regina was dragged to safety by two other policemen.

Use Tear Gas Authorities then threw tear gas into the house and firemen partially flooded the basement in a futile attempt to keep Hamlin on the upper floors.

For most farmers, spring is the most expensive season during the year. There is fertilizer, seed and fuel to buy, repair bills, hired help and many other expenses that come up at this time of the year. The Jackson Purchase Production Credit Association has a convenient, "Budgeted loan", that is especially tailored to meet this type of farm expenses. A loan may be set up large enough to meet all the expenses for the year, yet interest will be charged only for the number of days the money is used, which makes the cost very reasonable. By paying cash you can save more than the cost of this type loan. With a "PCA Planned Loan" you have only one person to pay when crops are sold which is far better than having several different people looking to you for repayment. PCA also makes loans for capital investment for such as Grade A Milk barns, new tractors and equipment, farm improvements, livestock and other credit needs requiring more than one year to repay.

A loan with Production Credit can be covered with credit life insurance which will pay your loan in case of death or loss of limb or eye. More and more modern farmers who plan ahead are using this convenient credit plan. If you don't have the ready cash to meet your operating expenses, why not contact the Jackson Purchase Production Credit Association, 208 1/2 South 4th Street, Murray, for information about its budgeted type loans.

To The Voters Of Calloway County

In every election I believe the voters should know the facts about all candidates. Since I am a native of Trigg County, and due to the fact that the 3rd Senatorial District is so large, it will be impossible for me to see each and every one of you. Therefore, I would like for all to know exactly how I feel regarding some issues in this campaign.

First of all, during my career as Representative, I have endeavored to vote as the people in my District, whom I represented, expected me to vote, not as any Governor, or Group, or Faction or Private Interest wanted me to. In other words, I have been, and promise to remain, if elected, independent of pressures from any and all Factions, other than the People of the 3rd Senatorial District. It is a matter of Record that I voted NOT to repeal the taxes on Keeneland Race Track. My opponent voted FOR repeal. There are many other cases in which I wish the Voters would check the records, and compare the voting.

I am not in favor of using a political office for private gain, such as having the State build roads to property owned by office holders. The road built to my home, while Representative, was built by private contractors, and paid for, not by taxpayers, but by me personally. May I ask you who paid for the gravel to my opponent's farm?

I am in favor of increasing Social Security, Old Age Pensions, and Minimum Wages as soon as we can possibly do so. I think our goal for Teachers salaries should be the National Average. However, I believe it will take several years before this goal can be accomplished. But we can, and should, raise our Teachers pay as fast as our budget permits.
